In October 1952 it was noticed that many new border policemen were arriving in D-4in (H51/P56). The guards wore green uniforms; all spoke fluent German. They were not billeted in casernes but lived among the population. The new arrivals for the most part were young men. A personnel official of a local electric concern confirmed the fact that the men were members of the Border Guard (BG). The number of new arrivals and the place from which they came are not known.
